Patricia Foster - Executive Director

Patricia is the key founder of I Can Be Social and Community Service Inc. Patricia is a Social Service Worker and a former Unix System's Administrator. She has been a single parent for 23 years and has experienced many of the difficulties facing some single parent families today.

She has been helping those less fortunate since 2002. With a friend she would buy happy meals and hand them out to the homeless in the GTA. She has also been helping single moms with basic things such as juice for their children and has helped them with finding jobs.

In 2008 Patricia signed a global pact for world peace, something she's very proud of. She's often been called an idealist, and a person who has an innate sense for social justice.

Reflecting back she didn't see the things she was doing as being anything special, she simply saw people needing help and she gave it. As a Social Service Worker Patricia recognizes the need to break the cycle of poverty among single parents by using the systemic approach.
